Search Is Being Made of Every Train Leaving W. Va.—Posse's Hunt Is Futile.

SUSPECT RAILROAD MEN

Special Correspondence to THE SUN.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—A correspondent of the Daily Express tells the story of one Alexandre Victor Menu, a French convict who escaped from the penal colony in French Guiana to Venezuela and there started life anew with considerable success, but who returned to France to fight the boches as soon as he heard of the war.

Under the French law a convict is not allowed to fight in the French army. Fugitives, Menu had some years yet to serve when he escaped from the penal colony. So he now is locked up in a cell underneath the Palais de Justice, while inquiries are being made into his recent record to see if this warrants making an exception in his case.

Menu was born in Talaia, near Paris, thirty-four years ago. At a youth he was an apache and in 1900 was sentenced to ten years at hard labor on a charge of robbing a train. He escaped on a series of chances, of which burglary was one. Arrived in French Guiana he made two attempts to escape, the first getting him six months additional sentence and the second six years. In 1910, with Jules Gohert, another convict, he escaped in a boat to Dutch Guiana and wandered about for twenty-seven days, at the end of which Gohert died of hunger and exposure.

Menu finally made his way to Venezuela and got a job with a lumber company. He was doing well when he learned of the war and on application to the French Consul he was sent back to France. The army surgeons passed him, an investigation was made of his omission of his name from the army lists and while this was going on there was a theft of furs in the hotel in which he had secured temporary work. He was guilty of the theft, but the investigation of the crime led to the revealing of his record and his arrest.

LOSS MAY BE SMALL.

Now Indicated That Train Bandits Made Poor Haul.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Reports made to the Chief Post Office Inspector indicate that the mail train robbery at Central, W. Va., early Friday morning may not have resulted in as great a loss as was at first supposed. Of twenty-three mail pouches containing about $100,000 in Federal Reserve Bank notes, only three were rifled.

The three pouches contained 251 separate bills of $100 each, which are missing. Until the denominations of the missing notes are known here it is impossible to estimate the loss but it is estimated to be small compared with the first reports.

WATER SHORTAGE FEARED.

Extensive Leak Will Make Trouble for Jersey City.

Unless a slow leak in the main pipe line of the Jersey City water supply leading from the Bontion reservoir is repaired shortly the city will face a water shortage, according to Henry Byrne, Director of Streets and Public Improvements, who is in charge of the water department.

Experts have been on the job for some days but they have been unable to find the leak. Mr. Byrne is fearful that the leak, which is the big main to collapse, which would entirely cut off the water supply.

The leak in the main is near Third street, east of Brookside, where a concrete covering will have to be placed around the entire section of the conduit.

CONFERENCE FAILS IN SCHENECTADY

Mediators Bring Both Sides Together, but No Agreement Follows.

A COMPROMISE OFFER

SCHENECTADY, Oct. 9.—There were no developments here today to indicate a quick ending of the strike of the 12,000 employees of the General Electric Company. Representatives of the State Board of Mediation were here and were successful in bringing the executive committee of the Metal Trades Alliance, representing the twenty-six unions, into conference with the officials of the company, but nothing was accomplished toward ending the strike.

George E. Edmonds, general manager of the company, renewed the company's offer of a 9 1/2 hour day with a 5 per cent. increase in wages and a nine hour day one year later with another 5 per cent. increase in wages as a compromise for the eight hour day asked for by the men. The committee considered the matter, but took no action and the conference was adjourned without fixing any time for another meeting.

It is understood that the executive committee will refer the compromise offer of the company to the various locals for action and that whatever action they take will be referred back to the committee. If no other action is taken in the meantime it does not look as though the strike would be ended for another week. There is a report tonight that many of the men, who are badly in need of funds, will try and get through the picket lines about the plant Monday morning and return to their jobs.

GIRL FELLEED WITH CEMENT.

Strange Attack Made in Hall of Apartment House.

Detectives from the fourth branch detective bureau were searching the Washington Heights district late last night for a young man who made a mysterious attack on Eva Richmond, a 17-year-old girl.

As the girl was between the third and fourth floors of her home in an apartment house at 315 West 175th street, about 10:30 o'clock, a young man wearing a cap pulled down over his eyes, pushed her into a room, weighing about seven pounds on her head from the landing above. The missile inflicted a deep cut on the top of her head. Miss Richmond screamed and as her assailant rushed down the stairs she shrieked with him. The man threw her aside and fled to the street. He was caught by running toward Amsterdam avenue.

The girl was hurried to the Washington Heights Hospital. Later she identified three suspects whom Detectives Golding and Connors brought to the hospital.
